PRESIDENT'S WELCOME

Dear Colleagues,

Welcome to the BAPRAS Congress 2024, in Wales - home to the Welsh Regional Centre for Burns and Plastic Surgery which began in Chepstow, just a few minutes' drive from here. Following the largest meeting in our history in Newcastle 2023, we have planned our biggest international congress yet.

We are honouring our origins with sessions on military trauma, highlighting our contribution to the unfortunate events in Ukraine and Gaza. Additionally, we have sessions on both upper and lower limb trauma, and our McIndoe lecture will be delivered by the world-renowned burns surgeon Fiona Wood.

I am proud to announce our inaugural Women in Plastic Surgery Breakfast Symposium and hope that many will attend. This is an exciting opportunity and I hope it marks the beginning of something greater to come.

Education remains the cornerstone of this Association, both nationally and internationally. We will highlight some of our work with a session on our journal, JPRAS, along with various workshops. I encourage delegates to attend both. We will also showcase the work of BFIRST, an organisation whose mission is close to my heart, which trains colleagues in LMIC countries. Furthermore, we will promote research and innovation.

We will have sessions on the management of malignancies of the breast, skin, and head and neck, as well as on the care of patients with cleft and craniofacial pathologies.

The surgical team involves many allied health professionals, and we continue to showcase their contributions with our Nurses' Education Day on Friday.

This year's event will conclude with our first-ever ICOPLAST session, featuring speakers from around the globe. I hope this will bring us all closer together as a global specialty with common goals and challenges.

Maniram Ragbir

Speakers: Mr Jonathan Pollock, Mr Kieran Power

Sponsored lunch time symposium- Motiva FDA Approval of Sixth-Generation Implants

5 December, 13:15

Room 3B&C

Speakers: Mr. Mark Ho-Asjoe & Mr. Theodore Nanidis

The symposium will provide an in-depth discussion on the data behind the FDA approval of Motiva's sixth-generation implants, highlighting their unique characteristics, safety profile, and the transformative patient outcomes that can be achieved. The speakers will share their experience with the Motiva portfolio and how to utilize the properties of each implant to achieve stable, natural results in a variety of breast procedures.

Sponsored lunch time symposium- Johnson & Johnson Is there still a place for implant based reconstruction

6 December, 13:00

Room 3B&C

Speaker: Mr Habib Tafazal

Johnson & Johnson Institute and the Mentor team welcome you to our symposium answering the question, 'is there still a place for implant-based reconstruction?'. This talk will highlight the clinical indications for implant-based reconstruction and which patients will benefit most from this type of procedure.

NURSES EDUCATION DAY 2024

We are delighted to host the 7th Nurses Education Day, convened by Ms Reena Agarwal and Claire Porter.

08:30 - 09:00 Coffee & Registration

McIndoe Lecture

Room 2

09:00 Burns research in Western Australia striving for repair by regeneration

Professor Fiona Wood

Session 1

Chairs: Ms Reena Agarwal and Ms Claire Porter

09:45 Welcome

Ms Reena Agarwal

09:50 Opening remarks

Mr Maniram Ragbir

09:55 Session Introduction

Claire Porter

10:00 The evolving role of the paediatric plastic surgery specialist nurse

Mr Nick Wilson Jones & Louise Scannell

10:40 Free Paper - Implementation and impact of an electronic medico-legal case (e-MLC) module in burns patients

Mamta Poonia

10:50 Free Paper - Impact of prehospital resuscitation on patients presenting to a tertiary burn centre emergency department

Mira Kar

11:00 Morning break and Exhibition

Session 2

Chairs: Claire Porter and Louise Scannell

11:30 Free Paper - Retrospective Study: Is it time to move from semi-permanent pigments to permanent tattoo inks?

Lauren Johnston-Cree

11:40 Free Paper - Pilonidal sinus laser hair removal pathway and referral system

Zoe Avent

11:50 A day in the life of a laser nurse practitioner

Shauna Morgan & Rob Duncan

12:25 The treatment of pressure ulcers. What we have learned in 80 years

Ms Rebecca Shirley & Kelly Farias

13:00 Lunch break and Exhibition

Session 3

Chairs: Claire Porter and Belinda Ragbir

14:00 Free Paper - The unsexy side of plastic surgery – A service improvement of plastic surgery dressing services to better manage venous insufficiency and chronic ulcers

Sophie Connett

14:10 Free Paper -FEWS Chart

Jasmine Carney & Emma Tudge

14:20 Free Paper-Virtual ward... a holistic approach to recovery at home

Laura Summers

14:30 Role of the ACP in a musculoskeletal reconstructive microsurgery service

Rinah Bheekharry

14:40 Innovations and advances in plastic surgery

Mr Adam Reid

14:55 The roles and developments of a plastic surgery nurses with skin cancer

Karen Pocock & Ms Aenone Harper-Machin

15:20 BFIRST

Mr Naveen Cavale

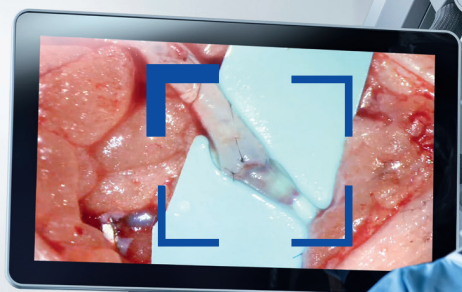

15:35 Closing

Mr Paul McArthur

SHARING EXPERTISE

SEVERN Healthcare Technologies is a medical device distribution company supplying market leading, high-quality products, across multiple specialties.

For those clinicians familiar with Severn Healthcare, they will know us as the UK supplier of the GEM anastomotic Coupler, and GEM Flow Coupler for monitoring of buried free flaps.

We're also the supplier of the smallest micro clip in the world, GEM Superfine, which is particularly useful for pedicle side branch ligation and those with an interest in hand and paediatric surgery.

Last year marked an exciting milestone for the company with the launch of our GEM Microsutures.

Since their introduction, the sutures have been widely well received, with positive feedback highlighting the fine and malleable nature of the needle, the non-memory thread, and excellent knot security

A special mention should also be made about the anti-glare and high visibility "COBRA BLACK" suture- a must for microsurgeons...!

The Severn commitment to the surgical specialties that we serve is to consistently provide gold standard technologies that are being continuously enhanced by innovation and development.

Our ambition is to provide added value in everything that we do, combined with great customer service, so that our customers have a delightful experience in all their dealings with Severn.
