Winter Scientific Meeting

25–27 November 2015

The Vox Conference Centre, Resorts World Birmingham

PRESIDENT'S WELCOME

Dear Friends,

Welcome to the BAPRAS 2015 Winter Meeting at the Vox in Birmingham.

We have a stunning faculty and we have the great honour of hosting, not just one but two, Hunterian Lectures. Plastic surgery is a specialty of the mind and we are privileged to have the brightest and best young surgeons still entering our profession even in the political turmoil of today. I am delighted that the Gillies Lecture is being delivered by Dr Andrew Bamji, who has curated the Gillies archive for many years, and that the John Potter Lecture is being delivered by the renowned plastic surgeon, Dr Jeff Marsh of St Louis. Dr Marsh has been the 'Thinking American's Cleft Surgeon' for decades, performing the first RCT in cleft surgery. We have sessions for everyone and many special interest groups. Your membership of the SIGs is essential in shaping our specialty so please do attend to network, learn, reflect and catch up with old friends. PLASTA will be with us in force and I look forward to meeting you over the next three days.

Kind regards,

Nigel Mercer
President, BAPRAS

COLLECTION

QUALITY AND CHOICE

Over 35 years manufacturing experience in anatomical implants, offering individual solutions leading to long-term patient satisfaction:

- 97% patient satisfaction at up to 9 years after surgery.¹
- Up to 11 years after surgery, most patients reported improved self-esteem, body perception, feeling of wearing clothes, personal charisma and attraction ability.²

The anatomical design provides a natural, proportionate breast shape^{3,4}. Form Stable gel ensures that shape remains predictable and long lasting with lower complication rates.^{2,4}

The Natrelle® 410 is one of the few FDA licensed anatomical implants marketed in Europe, Africa and the Middle East.*

BFIRST's vision is of a world where surgeons and hospital staff in resource poor countries, have the necessary expertise and have the necessary supplies to be able to perform reconstructive surgery and rehabilitate patients by themselves, without our help, but we have to get the expertise there and make it self-sustaining first!

How?

BFIRST's mission is to train surgeons working in some of the poorest countries in the world by sending BFIRST Consultant Plastic Surgeons and their teams of relevant allied healthcare professionals on regular training trips tailored to the local needs in reconstructive surgery. We aim to make partnerships between units abroad and BFIRST teams, so our training maintains the local relevance and tracks progress.

We have also uniquely built in an assessment of the BFIRST teams by the local surgeons and staff, and we continue to monitor the local surgeons' progress through ISCP based assessment tools.

Why?

Through reconstructive plastic surgery, we aim to release some of the world's most vulnerable children and adults from a state of poverty caused by a deformity or a disability.

You know we can make a huge difference with reconstructive surgery, help us do it! Donate, sign up or spread the word on twitter, Facebook or pigeon post.

As the NHS is changing, surgical training is changing. Increasing pressures on time, resources, efficiency and transparent outcomes have resulted in consultant led care becoming essential and as a result trainees are getting less exposure and direct experience. It is no longer acceptable to expose patients to a trainees' surgical learning curve. A nationwide trainee survey ran by PLASTA in 2015 has identified huge disparities in the exposure to patient and simulation based microsurgical training in different regions in the UK. 98% of the trainees strongly encouraged and supported their unit to have a simulation laboratory. The MI4 microsurgery laboratory and programme is developed as a cost effective, self-sufficient microsurgical simulation training system, which enables trainees to develop skills in a safe environment with minimal burden. The stepwise training programme allows objective assessment using validated laboratory-based tasks.

The programme is designed to accommodate the shift pattern of work, allowing both self-directed and trainer guided learning. With its national role out, we hope that all trainees will have 24/7 access to microsurgical training.
